Delta-The nights are exceedingly the next term of this Court, to be held at the cold, and the days exceedingly warm, which Court-house, in the town of Wilmington, on the has excited the apprehension of some in relasecond Monday in June next, and plead to issue tion to yellow fever; but I made diligent inor replevy, the property levied on will be con- quiry along the whole line, in relation to the health of the army, and find that it was never better.

All the government horses in the use of the officers and other persons attached to the army, have been ordered to be turned-in for the use of Col. Harney's Dragoons, a great number of whom have been left on foot by the wreck of the Yazoo. From the stubbornness of a mule train conveying the mortars to position last night, one of the mortars was dropped before it arrived at its proper place. The Mexicans discovered it, and continued during the night an uninterrupted fire upon it, in hopes, I presume, of killing some of our men, if they attempted to remove it under cover of the night. At 10 o'clock to-day a white flag was sent into the city. The bearer of it conveyed a message from Maj. Gen. Scott, addressed to Gov. Morales, commander of the Mexican forces. This message was a formal summons to surrender the city of Vera Cruz and the Castle of San Juan de Ulua, without a resort to any further defence, as the General-in-Chief of the American forces desired to avoid any further bloodshed. Gov. Morales replied in a very dignified tone and style of language, in substance, that he was sorry to be the cause of unnecessary bloodshed and loss of life, but that he had a high and important duty to perform, involving the honor of his army and the interest of his country, and that he would not surrender until he had exhausted every means of defence.

Accordingly, he returned to the place, took a position where he could watch their movements, and considered one of the most daring feats that keep his men secure from the enemy's fire.-The Mexicans commenced firing at him, and threw a perfect shower of balls all around him, but without injury. Col. Harney then furnished by a gentleman with the following despatched a messenger to camp for a small reinforcement, and some artillery to break the breastworks. He was reinforced from Gen.
